第二节 重难点以及例题讲解

一、Part 1重难点

关键得分点: Fluency

Don't stop and think too much (answer within 3 seconds)

Give short, simple answers (20-30 seconds).

Don't worry about vocabulary or grammar.

回答模板: point+extra information/reason+(example)

【Introduction questions 2-3】

Do you work or are you a student?

I'm a qualified doctor, but at the moment I'm studying English.

Do you enjoy your job/studies?

Yes, I love working as a doctor because I like helping people. But I'm not enjoying studying English so much.

【Sports】

Do you like sport?

No, I'm not really a sports fan. I like swimming, but I don't get much time to go these days because I'm too busy with work.

Do you think it's better to watch sports or play them yourself?

It's much healthier to play sports than to watch them, but it can be fun to be a spectator and support a team or a particular athlete.

Why do you think some sports are so popular?

Well, if I take football as an example, I think the fans like the feeling of winning and sharing an exciting experience with their friends and other fans.

Do you think children should all have to do sports at school?

Yes, I think children should all be encouraged to try a variety of sports, firstly because they need the exercise, and secondly because children need to have fun.

【Colours】

What's your favourite colour? Why?

My favourite colour is blue because it's the colour of the sky on a nice day.

Do different colours have different meanings in your country?

Yes they do. For example, red is usually used to mean danger, and green is always the colour we use for anything related to the environment or nature.

Do you think that colours can affect the way people feel?

Yes, colours do seem to affect our emotions. Bright colours like yellow or red can make us feel happier or more active, for example...

Do you wear different coloured clothes now compared to when you were a child?

I can't really remember. I probably wore much more colourful clothes back then, because children usually like fun clothes rather than boring dark colours.

【扣题描述 60s】

事件1 FACTS	When we got there, it was around noon, and we were starving, so the first thing we did was head straight to a noodle shop. We wanted to get the best noodles in town, so we went to a famous shop, which thankfully, was close to our hotel, and just a 10 minute walk away. And lucky for us, the lunch rush was over, so we didn't have to wait in a long long line. We each ordered a bowl of Xiao Mian, the classic flavor, and we dug in.
FEELINGS	It was definitely the best bowl of noodles I ever had, and the spicy and numbing flavor was really satisfying, it was much better than the so-called best noodle shop back in CD, and it was surprisingly cheap, too.
事件2 FACTS	After lunch, the next thing we did was go shopping at a place called Jie Fang Bei, the largest shopping plaza in the city. We looked around in all the stores, tried on the latest fashions, and I got myself a really nice bag, while my husband got a handsome watch.
FEELINGS	It was a great shopping experience, and we were treated like gods, you know the sales assistants were surprisingly patient and extremely polite, even when we didn't buy anything, and that kind of service is really hard to get.
事件3 (亮点事件) FACTS	But what really made our trip exciting was the bar we went to in the evening; it was a nice and quiet bar by the river, famous for its cock tails, with a panoramic view of the city's night scape, and we thought that would be the perfect way to end the night. I ordered a Cosmopolitan and a Tequila Sunrise.
FEELINGS	And I have to say, I've been to quite a few bars, but not a single drink could compare with these. The service provided was impeccable, and the view was quite impressive. Trust me, I'm not exaggerating when I say it was one of the most magical and wonderful nights of my life.

【总结概况 30s】

感受1 Positive	Anyways, this trip was really special, and over all, it was a relaxing trip, with no hurry and no worry.
感受2 Negative + 拉回	I did feel a bit tired, though, with all the walking and the stair-climbing, but it wasn't a big deal. In fact, I think everything was worth it, cause I cause I got to visit one of my favorite cities of all time, again, and I finally got a chance to relax.

Well, I'm not sure. Some people do perhaps, for example young people who should be studying instead, but a lot of people use the Internet for their jobs or for other things. Maybe too much time chatting to friends, not enough time doing other things. Too much time sitting down. But many people leave the Internet connected all day because they use it instead of a telephone for messages or instead of going to the library, so I think it depends. For somethings, it saves time.

二、语速

speaker1

speaker2

speaker3

Well I think broadly speaking they can learn a great deal. The majority of pre-school children for example are incredibly creative and experiment with paints and all sorts of other art materials and they just love getting their hands dirty. Older students tend to be less enthusiastic but many of them still enjoy art and well I guess if you don't try it you won't know whether you're any good at it.

【练习】

Why do you think secondary schools give arts subjects a low priority?

Well generally there are quite a few reasons. These days a lot of head teachers seem to be more concerned about exam results than giving the students an all-round education. That's obviously going to have an influence on how significant art is in the school curriculum. Another possible reason is that many educational institutions don't tend to have the money to provide all the materials you need for art courses. They seem to be more worried about buying technological equipment these days.

I'm going to describe a friend of mine called James. James is an actor by profession. He's in his thirties I think. He's tall, he's about my height, with dark hair and a friendly face; he's always smiling and he cheers me up whenever I see him.

I met James in ... at university. He was my next-door neighbour in my hall of residence in the first year of university. So on that first day when we were moving in to our rooms, James introduced himself to me and we struck up a conversation, and got to know each other then, and we became good friends.

James, as I said, is an actor, and I think he's really good at that. He studied drama at university, where I met him, and since then he's been working in theatre, he's done some small independent films, and he's trying to get his break in television or in more popular, mainstream films.

And I think he'll do it, because for me he seems ... when I've been to see him in theatre productions or I've seen the short films that he's been in, he seems to be a really good actor to me.

Why I think he's good: well, I think it comes from his work ethic. He's a really hard worker, he's really persistent. He always said he wanted to be a successful actor; it's not an easy profession to become successful in, but he has persisted, he's really intense, he studies each role very carefully, he gets into character. I remember, for example, not being able to talk to him for about a week before one of his acting jobs because he was 'in character'-he didn't want to lose focus. So he's really intense, and that's what I think makes him a great actor, and why I think he'll be successful.

Describe a river, lake or sea which you like.

You should say:

what the river, lake or sea is called where it is what the land near it is like and explain why you like this river, lake or sea.

【样答】

I'm going to describe the best known river in England, the river Thames.

The river Thames is in the south of England, and it's famous because it flows right through the centre of London. It goes winding through all of the most iconic, famous tourist attractions and landmarks of the city. For example, it goes past the London Eye, the Houses of Parliament, with Big Ben, and it goes under Tower Bridge, probably the most famous bridge in London.

So the land around this river, or on either side of this river is hectic, thriving, city-centre London. It's right in the heart of the city, and of course it's a cosmopolitan mix of cultures, business tourism all around. It's where everyone goes to do sightseeing in the centre of the capital, and it's got a lot of the history and heritage of London based around that area, in close proximity to the river itself.

The reason I like this river, the river Thames, is because it's such an iconic location. It's a great... its a backdrop to these great landmarks of the city: the historic buildings and famous tourist sites in the city. And I've got good memories of being there on a New Year's Eve one year recently. In London, New Year's Eve celebrations are all focused on the river, with the river and some of the landmarks as the backdrop to a big fireworks show. And so the river's all lit up, and there's a spectacular fireworks display put on, and lots of tourists and local people all watch it there together. That was really an unforgettable experience, and the river was central to it.

【例题2】

Describe a restaurant that you enjoyed going to.

You should say:

where the restaurant was why you chose this restaurant

what type of food you ate and explain why you enjoyed eating in this restaurant.

【样答】

I'm going to describe a restaurant that I went to quite recently for the birthday of a friend of mine.

The restaurant that we went to was right in the heart of London, overlooking the river Thames. It was quite near to Tower Bridge, the famous bridge in London, and we had a great view from our vantage point above the river, we had a great view of all the famous London landmarks in that area.

My friend chose the restaurant because of this location, because of the great backdrop; out of the window of the restaurant we could see all of these iconic places in London, and he thought it would be a good place to have a celebration, a place that would be memorable for everybody. But also, we'd heard that the food in this restaurant was delicious, and that the staff were warm and welcoming, and the service and the quality was all round really good.

The type of food that we ate there, well, it was a fusion restaurant I think they called it, which meant that there was a variety of food choices from all over the world. There were Mexican food choices, Mediterranean, Persian, but also hamburgers and pizzas, that kind of thing. I think I actually had a pizza with various toppings on it myself, and it was really nice -it was a fantastic meal.

The reason I enjoyed eating in this restaurant. Firstly, it was a great chance to get together with friends and chat about what we'd been up to, and catch up with some of my good friends. But also, the restaurant itself really did make the night special. The service was fantastic, the waiters and the staff really made us feel at home, they were thoughtful and attentive to all of our needs, and we were really surprised at the end when they brought us a cake to celebrate my friend's birthday.

【例题1】

Describe something that you would like to own.

You should say:

what it is

where you have seen it

what you would use it for and explain why you would like to own this object.

【样答】

I'm going to talk about a watch that I would like to own. It's one of these new smartwatches, a new type of watch that has all the functions and features of a smart phone, of a mobile phone, but of course you wear it on your wrist, so it's even more portable.

And this is a new fashion accessory these days, a new gadget, that I've seen advertised everywhere: on billboards in the city centre, on TV adverts, and I've seen these watches in person, in 'reallife', in various dement stores that I've been to when out shopping. And I'm not sure which brand I would buy, but I've seen the various brands, and maybe the most famous one at the moment is the Apple Watch.

The reason I'd like one of these watches is because you can synchronise it with your computer and phone, and so you've got all your contacts, your photos and especially calendar notifications right there on your wrist, and you're carrying it round with you.

I think it would be particularly convenient for me to be able to organise my life using one of these watches, and check my appointments and work commitments at a glance, just looking at my wrist. I think it'd even be good maybe for health reasons, because apparently you can track your exercise goals, even things like the number of steps you're taking every day. So that might be quite interesting.

So the reason that I'd like one of these watches, as I said, would be the features and functions that Ive just mentioned. I think these watches are really practical. It's just as good as a phone in terms of the technology, but its even more portable; really they're the ultimate in portable devices. And I'm a fan of gadgets, and this one looks really stunning too. Those are the reasons why I think it would be nice to have one.

【例题2】

Describe something old that you own which is special to you.

You should say:

what this possession is how long you have had it where it came from

and explain why this possession is special to you.

【样答】

I'm going to describe an old wristwatch that I inherited from my grandfather. So its a family heirloom, it's an antique watch, and it's really a simple, classic old watch with a leather strap, a white face, and a gold edge around it. And I've had it for the last 10 years, I think it is, since my grandfather gave it to me. But it's been in the family for several generations before that.

In fact, I think it came originally from my great-grandfather, because his name is engraved on the back of the watch face. So perhaps it was a gift that he received from an employer, or a friend, or another family member. We're not really sure, but he had it originally, and then passed it down to my grandfather, and now it's obviously mine.

The reason it's special, then, is because of this sentimental value that this watch has. As I said it is a family heirloom, its probably the only antique, really old possession that I've got that reminds me of my grandfather, and it brings back happy memories.

For example, I remember when my grandfather was helping me to learn to tell the time when I was a child. Because his watch had such a simple, clear clock face, it was very easy for me to understand what he was talking about, when he showed me how the big hand was for the minutes and the shorter, small hand on the watch was for the hours. So I remember him teaching me to tell the time, and testing me with different times to see if I understood.

I also like the watch's stylish, elegant design; it's very simple, it's just a classic, timeless look and its really durable and resilient, I think its so well-made that I'll be able to hand it down to the next generation when I'm older.

【例题1】

Describe a sports event that you enjoyed watching.

You should say:

what event you watched

where you were who you watched it with and explain why you enjoyed watching it.

【样答】

I'm going to describe what I think was the most memorable event in recent years that I remember, which was the London 2012 Olympic Games. This was a spectacular festival of sport over the course of several weeks here in England, and I think it was a once-in-a-lifetime experience for us to have the Olympic Games in our own country.

I was unfortunately at home watching most of the Olympics on television. I didn't manage to go down to London to see any of the events in person, but I enjoyed them all on TV at home, in my own house, or sometimes with friends or family at their houses. And I do remember the events themselves, though, were in all different places across London, mainly at the Olympic Park area, in the main stadium or the various other smaller stadiums for the different events, like the swimming, the basketball etc., and I watched various of these different events when they were on television.

As I said, I was watching at home, usually on my own or with family or occasionally with friends. I remember, for example, watching the 100 metres sprint race, which is probably considered to be the most important or the most famous event in the Olympic Games; we often call it the "blue riband" event, and there was a lot of hype and anticipation surrounding the 100 metres at the London Olympics because everyone wanted to see whether Usain Bolt would win again, or whether anyone would be able to beat him.

So I enjoyed this event, the London Olympic Games, because I think it was an unforgettable experience to see it in my own country. There were some great performances and victories by the athletes, and I enjoyed every minute.

【例题2】

Describe a concert or musical event in your country.

You should say:

who the musicians are

where the concert is held what type of music is played and explain why people attend this musical event.

【样答】

I'm going to describe a concert that I've actually been to, that takes place here in Manchester, where I live. The musicians who perform this concert are classical musicians; it's an orchestra called the Hallé orchestra, which is obviously made up of the conductor, the string instruments, like violins, the percussion, the woodwind instruments, the brass instruments etc.

And these musicians play in a concert hall, a venue called the Bridgewater Hall, here in Manchester, which is a purpose-built concert hall, by which I mean that it was designed specifically for music. The sound acoustics are really good in the concert room, and the lighting, the stage etc., they were all built specifically for music.

The type of music that you would expect from an orchestra would normally be classical music. But this particular concert, that I think they put on once a year, is a bit more popular or mainstream because the orchestra plays theme music from famous films, the sound tracks from films. And most of them are very popular, well-known Hollywood films like E.T. Indiana Jones, Jurassic Park, the James Bond films, that kind of thing.

And this is why people attend, because we all know, or most of us know, the music from those films, and it's amazing to hear a full orchestra playing these songs, these pieces of music in a live venue. The sound quality is fantastic, and to hear the pieces of music loud and live is really wonderful. I, for example, was particularly blown away by the E.T. soundtrack, which is a really emotional piece of music when you hear it especially in a live venue like that.

【例题1】

Describe something healthy you enjoy doing.

You should say:

what you do

where you do it

who you do it with

and explain why you think doing this is healthy.

【样答】

I'm going to describe a really healthy activity that I do, currently, which is swimming. I used to swim a lot when I was younger, but I've recently taken it up again, and I go a couple of times a week now.

I go swimming in a gym that I joined, which has a nice swimming pool. I tried going to my local public pool, but it was too busy and you couldn't really swim up and down in lanes there. So, I found a gym that has a pool, and it's usually quite empty, and I can have a lane to myself and swim up and down.

As I said, I do this hobby or activity alone. I don't go there with anyone; it's a solitary sport really, and I'm doing it for my own health reasons. Obviously, of course, there are other people in the pool when I'm there; sometimes you have to share a lane with another person or a couple of people. But, basically, I'm in there, focused, on my own, concentrating on my own swimming stroke and technique, and trying to improve my endurance and stamina as well.

And the reason I think this is a healthy sport... Well, I think it's widely accepted that swimming is really healthy. It's a good all-over body workout, it's great cardiovascular exercise; it's a low-impact sport, so you're not expected to get any injuries as you might do if you were running, where there's impact on the joints -with swimming you don't have that. So I think it's really good for the body, but it's also good for the mind. When I get into the swimming pool, as soon as I hit the water it clears my mind; I'm focused only on one thing, which is my stroke, my technique, the breathing-it makes you think about your breathing as well, which is good. And I think it rejuvenates and reinvigorates you to be in the water. It's a really relaxing experience.

【例题2】

Describe an indoor game that you enjoyed as a child.

You should say:

what the game was where you played it

who played this game with you and explain why you enjoyed it.

【样答】

As a child I enjoyed playing chess. I think chess is probably the best known board game in the world. It's a game for two players, and the aim is to defeat the other player by taking his or her pieces and eventually trapping his King. This final move is called checkmate.

I remember that it was a classmate of mine at primary school who first taught me to play chess. He had a small, portable chess set, and once I knew how each piece moved, we started playing at break and lunch times; we played in our classroom or outside on the school playground. Later my parents bought me my own chess set as a birthday present so that I could play at home.

I taught my younger brother to play, and at some point I joined the school chess club. There I had the chance to hone my skills against some of the older pupils, and in my final year of primary school I made it onto the school team. There were five of us on the team, and we competed against children from other primary schools in the same town. I liked playing chess because I enjoyed the challenge of thinking ahead and trying to outwit my opponent. I was probably seven or eight years old when I started playing, and it seemed like a very mysterious and intellectual game at that time. Also, although I loved winning, chess taught me to learn from my losses and to congratulate the person who had beaten me.

【例题1】

Describe a song or piece of music that you like.

You should say:

what type of music it is where you first heard it who performs it and explain why you like this song or piece of music.

【样答】

I'm going to describe one of my favourite pieces of music, which is the theme music from the James Bond films. This is the soundtrack that begins every one of these James Bond films, and you hear the instruments straight away -it's an instrumental piece of music; there's no singing, there are no lyrics, it's just orchestra with electric guitar, and it begins every one of the James Bond films.

So the first time I heard this soundtrack was probably when I was a child and I watched my first ever James Bond film on television, and I was immediately struck by the music how impressive it was and how it gets you excited before the film's even begun. The spectacular opening sequences that always begin any James Bond film, matched with this iconic music, are really exciting and memorable.

This is performed, obviously, by an orchestra, but as I said, it incorporates electric guitar and some drums as well. So it's a mix of popular and classical I'd say. I'm not sure who composed it, but I imagine any orchestra can play it.

The reason I like this music then, is because of the expectation it creates at the beginning of a James Bond film. You know that you're about to watch something special when you hear the first few notes of this soundtrack, of the theme music. It creates an expectation of adventure, mystery, excitement, I think it's really dramatic and powerful to hear this music at the beginning of the film, and they always match it with a spectacular opening sequence, and I think you're already on the edge of your seat before the film's even begun because it's a really special beginning to hear this music before the film gets going.

【例题2】

Describe a book that you enjoyed reading.

You should say:

what the book was about how you found out about it

why you chose to read it and explain why you enjoyed reading this book.

【样答】

I'm going to describe a book that I really enjoyed reading recently. The name of the book was

'Mindset'. It's a non-fiction book and the author is called Carol Dweck. I'm not sure how to pronounce her surname properly, but she's a psychology professor and so the topic of this book was related to personality and development and motivation. In icular, she was writing about people's own personal views regarding ability. Some people according to this author, believe that ability is innate -you're born with it, you have a talent that you can't change. Other people, on theother hand, believe that abilities can be improved through gradual hard work, and this is the area of personality that she's looking at. So she divides the two types of people into people with a 'fixed mindset' and other people with a 'growth mindset'; that's why the name of the book is 'Mindset' These two mindsets are about whether you believe that our traits are fixed or, on the other hand, you think that we can grow and develop our talents through hard work.

I found out about the book from a friend who'd read it, who recommended it, said it was really interesting.

And I chose to read it because I thought, well, this could help me with my job, with my own aims or goals in life, and I'm interested in that kind of area, psychology, anyway.

And I really enjoyed reading the book because it did open my eyes to motivation and people's growth and development. I found it really informative, fascinating and even inspiring to see how we can improve ourselves.

Do old and young people like the same holidays?

I think old people and young people like different holidays, for example elderly people are fond of traditional holidays such as spring festival, but young guys like western holidays such as Valentine's day and Christmas.

Do old and young people like the same holidays?

Well obviously, there are a number of clear differences. However, the most significant would be that old people are more likely to prefer traditional festivals such as the spring festival. Whereas in contrast young guys tend to prefer western festivals such as Valentine's day and Christmas, as these holidays are more fashionable and romantic.

【性别对比】

What's the differences of consuming habits between men and women?

Well, there are lots of differences. However, I think that the most significant difference would be that time spent on shopping between men and women. To be more precise, women are inborn shopaholics. They would spend most of their time on shopping. On the contrary, men are prone to go shopping when they think that they have to. In addition to this, another possible distinction might be that men usually buy electronic appliance such as computers, cell phone, portable video game player, while women are more likely to prefer buying clothes, cosmetics, jewelry.

【古今对比】

Are free time nowadays longer than that 20 years ago in your country?

Well, obviously nowadays people have more leisure time than past. As we all known, in China ,there many public holidays, such as International Labors day, National Day and many other holidays. What's more , our government also adds some other holidays for people, for example, the Dragon boat day and the Tomb-Sweeping Day. So people can enjoy themselves during these holidays. In contrast, in the past, people's living standard is relatively low, they just had to work to support themselves as well as their whole families, so they have less free time.

【地域对比】

When people purchase something, do you think people in city and in countryside would have the same purchasing behaviors?

Well obviously, there are a variety of differences in purchasing behaviors between people living in city and in countryside. The most first key distinction is that people in city would like to consider the quality firstly when they buy something, however, people in countryside prefer to think about the price. On top of that, a second distinction could be that people in city would like to buy some luxury commodity, on the contrary, people in countryside are more likely to buy some daily necessity.

By next century, some say that we will perhaps be living on other planets.

四、将来完成时

Eg.

We will have found cures for many serious diseases like cancer or Aids in about 50 years.

Many believe that in only a few years far more endangered species will have become extinct.

五、条件句

Eg.

If we continue to treat wildlife animals in this way, we will be in serious trouble in the future.

It is extremely likely that.../ probable that...possible that...

It is highly possible that we will face severe problem in only a couple of years if we don't solve the current traffic problems soon.

What are the advantages of travelling by train?

Well I suppose that there are a few clear benefits, but I would probably say that for the most , the one thing that really stands out is that trains are really cheap, especially for long distance travel— you can travel from one side of China to the other for a few hundred yuan. I guess that another obvious plus point is that it is much faster than travelling by road - so you can save time by travelling on trains. Along with this, a further merit is that you can sleep quite comfortably on long train journeys.

What are the disadvantages of train travel?

I think it's fair to say that there are a few negative aspects. I suppose the most unfavorable quality might be that trains are often crowded at certain times of year. This is a clear limitation because on a long journey you might not be able to find a seat which means you have to stand up for hours. At the same time, another stumbling block might be that trains tickets are sometimes difficult to buy, especially around Spring Festival, and this can be a hassle because it means you can't always travel on the actual day that you want to.

【例题3】

What are the advantages and disadvantages of facing challenges?

I think the biggest benefit of dealing with challenges is quite obvious, and that is giving you an opportunity to push yourself and extend your limit. However, for the people who are not strong enough, that may lead to some problems, like to handle the huge pressures or to quit quickly.

【例题1】

Do you agree that food is an important of Chinese festivals and ceremonies?

Can I just say very important? Yeah, because that's the first word popping into my head. For me, it's kind of a given that food is an integral of Chinese festivals and ceremonies. Of course, some people might disagree; they might think it's not the most crucial element of these events, and they might think it's because the cultural or historical significance overshadows the role of food. This may sound reasonable, but I still think it's vital to recognize the importance of food in these occasions.

First of all, I guess it's vital for every individual. Take me as an example, I think food not only satisfies our taste buds but also carries deep symbolic meanings in Chinese traditions. Also, I think there will also be some societal benefits. Just imagine, if Chinese festivals and ceremonies didn't emphasize food, then many traditional recipes and culinary techniques might be lost over time. So, to sum up, from the two perspectives, both individual and societal, I think it is important to acknowledge that food plays a significant role in Chinese festivals and ceremonies.

Yeah. There is no doubt that new things or changes can bring excitement and fresh perspectives to life. Take the case of relocating to a new city, a typical change among thousands, which can offer new experiences, friendships, and challenges. As a result, it's evident that while stability has its merits, embracing new things or changes can be enriching and invigorating for one's life journey.

【例题3】

Some people say that paper books will eventually be replaced by electronic books. Do you agree or disagree with this statement?

Certainly not. There's perhaps nothing better than curling up on the couch on a rainy day with a hot cup of coffee and a good book. The experience just isn't the same with an e-book though. The sterile touch of a plastic e-reader in your hands is no substitute for the smell and feel of a real book, and the latter never runs out of batteries.

【例题1】

Why do so many people want to be famous?

In my opinion I guess I would have to say that there are probably a number of factors involved. Primarily, one key motivation would be because they think they would be able to make more money. As well as this a subsequent incentive might be because they want to live in a big house and drive an expensive car.

【例题2】

What causes the traffic problem in big cities?

The way I see it, the ever increase of cars is the main driver of traffic congestion, cause almost all the time, streets in a city are so full of cars that cannot move, especially during rush hours. But since the car demanding is increasing rampantly every single year, what the government can do is limited.

【例题3】

Why do some people think money is the best way to measure success?

Why... let me think... it's true that there's a segment of the population that equates success primarily with financial wealth. Well, to be honest, I have no idea about this question, but let me guess, they might believe that monetary gains are a tangible and clear indicator of one's achievements and efforts. But if we are going to delve into the reasons behind it, I guess some factors might be responsible.

Firstly, I guess it has something to do with society as a whole. I mean, many societies promote the idea that wealth signifies power, status, and accomplishment. So when people see wealthy individuals, they often associate them with success.

Others might be just following this societal lead, or, you know, the Herd Behavior Effect. But, of course, I guess it also has something to do with individual preferences. I mean, different people have different benchmarks for success, and for some, a hefty bank balance might be the ultimate goal.

Finally, if we are looking for more reasons, I guess it might have something to do with the practical benefits that money can bring, such as security, comfort, and opportunities. To sum up, there are a lot of reasons behind this phenomenon, but I guess I just mentioned the most important two or three reasons.

【例题1】

There are many problems associated with the increase use in car use. How could these problems be solved?

In my view, there are a number of actions that could be taken. When dealing with the first problem, the easiest way to work it out would be to develop new technology for car engines which doesn't cause air pollution, maybe some kind of special exhaust filter. Taking on the second problem, the most successful way to confront this would be to invest heavily on research into alternative sources. In fact, I've heard that we have already produced a car which runs on water.

【例题2】

How can people solve the problem of old people easily getting tired?

Firstly, I suppose incorporating a balanced diet and proper nutrition could be instrumental for the elderly. So for example, instead of consuming processed foods with little nutritional value, older individuals could focus on whole foods rich in vitamins and minerals that boost energy. So that's one thing, and as well as this, I guess engaging in regular, moderate exercise could also have a positive effect on enhancing stamina and reducing fatigue. Activities like walking or gentle yoga can be beneficial for seniors.

And finally, I think ensuring adequate sleep and rest, along with regular medical check-ups, can help in identifying any underlying health issues that might be contributing to their tiredness.

Oh, yeah, it is true that in many Chinese households, certain rules and expectations are set for children to ensure discipline and respect for family values. I guess this issue is kind of complicated; if I have to create different categories for that, it might be kind of challenging. But based on what I have seen and the cultural context of China, I guess I can list two of them. Firstly, change often signifies growth, learning, and adaptation indicates that it can be beneficial for personal development. many Chinese children are taught to show respect to their elders, which means they should greet them properly, listen to their advice, and avoid talking back.

Secondly, diligence in studies is often emphasized, so children might have specific study hours or be expected to complete their homework before engaging in leisure activities. I know the reality is actually far more complicated, but as far as I know, these two types may be two good examples.

【例题2】

What are the main means of transport in your country?

Oh, yeah, it is true that China has developed a wide range of transportation means due to its vast size and diverse geography. I guess this issue is kind of complicated; if I have to categorize the main means of transport, it might be kind of challenging. But based on my understanding and the current trends, I guess I can list two main ones. Firstly, the high-speed rail network in China is one of the most extensive and frequently used forms of transportation. It connects major cities and regions with speed and efficiency, making it a popular choice for long-distance travel within the country.

Secondly, in urban areas, public buses and subways are the primary means of transport for daily commuting. They are efficient, cost-effective, and environmentally friendly, catering to the needs of the large urban population. I know the reality is actually far more complicated, but as far as I know, these two modes of transportation are particularly significant in ensuring mobility and connectivity across China.

【样答】

One of my favorite natural places to visit is the Great Smoky Mountains National Park, located on the border between Tennessee and North Carolina in the southeastern United States. I first learned about this breathtaking destination through travel documentaries and recommendations from friends who had visited before. Intrigued by its reputation as one of the most biodiverse regions in North America and its stunning scenery, I decided to explore it for myself.

The Great Smoky Mountains National Park is renowned for its lush forests, towering peaks, cascading waterfalls, and diverse wildlife. (大烟山国家公园以其郁郁葱葱的森林、高耸入云的 山峰、飞流直下的瀑布和种类繁多的野生动物而闻名于世。)

Spanning over 800 square miles, it encompasses a wide range of ecosystems, from dense old-growth forests to meandering rivers and high-altitude meadows.

Visitors can embark on countless hiking trails that lead to scenic overlooks, historic landmarks, and hidden gems tucked away in the wilderness. (游客可以踏上无数条远足小径, 通往风景优美的俯瞰点、历史地标和隐藏在荒野中的瑰宝。)

What sets the Great Smoky Mountains apart is its natural beauty and tranquility.

Whether it's driving along the scenic Newfound Gap Road, hiking to the summit of Clingmans Dome - the highest peak in the park, or marveling at the colorful display of wildflowers in spring, every visit offers a chance to connect with nature and rejuvenate the soul.

(无论是沿着风景优美的纽芬德峡谷公路驱车游览, 还是徒步登上公园最高峰克林曼斯圆顶的顶峰, 抑或是惊叹于春天五彩缤纷的野花, 每一次游览都是一次与大自然亲密接触、焕发心灵活力的机会。) The park is also home to a rich cultural heritage, with preserved log cabins, historic churches, and remnants of Appalachian pioneer life dotting the landscape.

What draws me to visit the Great Smoky Mountains time and time again is its ability to provide a sense of escape from the hustle and bustle of modern life. Surrounded by the serenity of the mountains, I feel a profound sense of peace and perspective, allowing me to recharge and reconnect with the natural world. Whether I'm admiring a panoramic sunset from a mountaintop or listening to the soothing sounds of a babbling brook, each moment spent in the park is a reminder of the beauty and wonder of our planet. Moreover, the Great Smoky Mountains National Park offers endless opportunities for outdoor recreation, from hiking and camping to wildlife watching and photography, making it a haven for outdoor enthusiasts of all ages.

【样答】

I vividly remember my first day of school, which happened when I was six years old. It was a crisp autumn morning, and I felt a mix of excitement and nervousness as my parents walked me to the local primary school in our neighborhood. The school, nestled amidst a residential area with towering trees and colorful playground equipment, seemed like a place of endless possibilities and new adventures. (学校坐落在居民区中，绿树成荫，操场上五颜六色的游乐设施，似乎是一个充满无限可能和新奇冒险的地方。) As I stepped through the gates and into the bustling schoolyard, I was overwhelmed by the sights and sounds of children laughing, teachers bustling about, and parents bidding farewell to their little ones. Despite feeling a bit apprehensive about being away from my parents for the first time, I was eager to explore my new surroundings and make new friends.

The anticipation of learning new things and embarking on this new chapter of my life filled me with a sense of anticipation and wonder. (对学习新知识和开启人生新篇章的期待让我充满了期待和好奇。)

The reason why I still remember this experience so clearly is because it marked a significant milestone in my life. It was my first step towards independence and formal education, setting the stage for years of learning and personal growth ahead. The memories of that day are etched in my mind as they represent a pivotal moment of transition from the comfort and security of home to the challenges and opportunities of the wider world. Moreover, the emotions I felt on that day - the excitement, nervousness, and curiosity - serve as a reminder of the resilience and adaptability that I possess, qualities that have continued to serve me well throughout my academic and personal journey.

Overall, my first day of school remains a cherished memory that holds a special place in my heart, symbolizing the beginning of a lifelong journey of learning, discovery, and self-discovery.

You should say:

When this happened

hiking trip, last month

What made you change the plan

weather conditions

What the new plan was cycling

And how you felt about the change

disappointed, enjoyable

【样答】

A plan that I recently had to change was a hiking trip that I had organized with my friends. It was scheduled to take place last month during the holidays. However, due to unforeseen circumstances (由于不可预测的事情), we had to alter our original plan.

The main reason behind changing the plan was the unexpected change in weather conditions. Just a few days before the trip, the weather forecast predicted heavy rain and thunderstorms for the entire weekend. This made it impossible for us to go ahead with the hiking trip as it would have been risky and unpleasant to hike in such weather.

Considering the safety and comfort of all the participants, we decided to come up with a new plan. Instead of canceling the trip altogether, we chose to go for a different outdoor activity – cycling. Fortunately, there's a beautiful cycling trail near our city that we had never explored before, so we thought it would be a great alternative.

Initially, I felt a bit disappointed about not being able to go hiking as planned. I had been looking forward to it for weeks, and it was something I had been longing to do. However, I soon realized that changing the plan was the best decision considering the circumstances. It allowed us to still engage in an outdoor activity and spend quality time together, while avoiding the unpleasant weather conditions.

In the end, the new plan turned out to be quite enjoyable. We had a wonderful time cycling along the scenic trail, appreciating the beauty of nature and having fun along the way. Although it was different from what we had initially planned, the experience taught me the importance of adaptability and finding alternatives in unforeseen circumstances. (寻找替代方案的重要性)

Overall, while I was initially disappointed, changing the plan ultimately led to a positive outcome. It was a valuable lesson in flexibility and making the best of any situation.

final year project

When and where you faced it last semester at university

Why you thought it was a difficult challenge

limited experience

And explain how you felt at the time excitement and anxiety

【样答】

I would like to talk about a challenge I faced during my college years. It was the final year project, which required me to develop a machine learning algorithm for predicting stock market trends (机器学习算法来预测股票市场趋势). I faced this challenge during my last semester at university.

I remember it vividly - it was in the computer lab on a hot summer day. I had to dedicate countless hours to researching, coding, and testing different algorithms (研究、编码和 测试不同 的算法) . The pressure was immense, as it accounted for a major part of my final grade. Moreover, the stock market is known for its volatility, making it even more daunting.

I thought this challenge was difficult because I had limited experience in machine learning and financial analysis. It required me to dive deep into complex mathematical concepts and apply them practically. Additionally, the ever-changing nature of the stock market made it challenging to find a reliable algorithm that could accurately predict trends (股票市场瞬息万变的本质使得找到一种能够准确预测趋势的可靠算法变得具有挑战性) .

During that time, I felt a mix of excitement and anxiety. On one hand, I was thrilled to apply my knowledge and develop something innovative. On the other hand, the uncertainty and fear of failure weighed heavily on me. I constantly questioned whether I would be able to meet the expectations of my professors and secure a good grade.

However, as I progressed and overcame various obstacles, my confidence grew. I sought guidance from professors, joined study groups, and dedicated extra hours to improving my coding skills. Slowly, I started seeing positive results and my algorithm began to show promising predictions.

Looking back, I feel a great sense of accomplishment. It was a challenging journey that pushed me to my limits, but I am proud of the hard work and determination I put into it. This experience not only enhanced my technical skills but also instilled in me a belief that with perseverance, any challenge can be overcome.

Overall, tackling the final year project and developing a stock market prediction algorithm was a difficult challenge that tested my abilities and resilience.

You should say:

When you got it two years ago

What you got it for digital camera

How often you use it special occasions and for personal projects

And explain how you feel about it. frustrated

【样答】

One piece of technology that I found difficult to use is a high-end digital camera that I received as a gift two years ago. I got it primarily for capturing high-quality photos during special occasions and for personal projects. However, I found myself using it less often than I anticipated due to the complexity of its features and settings.

Despite my efforts to learn how to operate it effectively through online tutorials and user manuals, I still struggled with navigating its menu system and adjusting its advanced settings. As a result, I often defaulted to using my smartphone camera for convenience, even though the digital camera offered superior image quality. (因此, 尽管数码相机的图像质量更好, 但为了方便, 我还是经常使用智能手机相机。)

Overall, while I appreciate the capabilities of the digital camera, I feel frustrated by my inability to fully utilize its features and maximize its potential. It serves as a reminder of the importance of user-friendly design and intuitive interfaces in technology, as even advanced devices can be daunting and inaccessible to users without adequate guidance and support. (它提醒人们, 在技术领域, 用户友好的设计和直观的界面非常重要, 因为即使是先进的设备, 如果没有足够的指导和支持, 也会让用户望而生畏, 难以使用。)

You should say:

What it is mooncake

At which festival/event you eat it Mid-Autumn Festival

How it is made flour, oil, and sugar

And explain why you like it. taste, family memories, cultural significance

【样答】

One of my favourite foods at a traditional festival in my country is mooncake, which is commonly enjoyed during the Mid-Autumn Festival. Mooncakes are round pastries with a rich filling, often made from lotus seed paste or red bean paste (莲蓉或红豆沙), and sometimes with a salted egg yolk (咸蛋黄) in the center to symbolize the full moon.

Mooncakes are typically made by combining a variety of ingredients, including flour, oil, and sugar, and then shaping them into small round cakes. The fillings are prepared separately and then enclosed within the dough before being baked until golden brown. The craftsmanship involved in making these treats is truly impressive, with intricate patterns and designs often adorning the surface.

There are several reasons why I love mooncakes. Firstly, their taste is absolutely delightful, with a perfect balance between sweetness and richness. The combination of the soft, flaky crust (松软的脆皮和光滑的馅料) and the smooth filling creates a melt-in-your-mouth experience that is simply heavenly. Secondly, I associate mooncakes with warm family gatherings and reunions during the Mid-Autumn Festival. The act of sharing and exchanging mooncakes has become a cherished tradition, bringing friends and loved ones closer together. Lastly, mooncakes have a deep cultural significance, as they symbolize unity, completeness, and the beauty of the moon. They are not only a delicious treat but also a representation of our heritage and customs.

In conclusion, mooncakes are a delectable delicacy that I eagerly look forward to every year during the Mid-Autumn Festival. With their unique taste, intricate craftsmanship, and cultural significance, they are truly an unforgettable food that I am proud to celebrate and indulge in.

Describe a toy you liked in your childhood

You should say:

What kind of toy it is skid-loader

When you received it six or seven years old

How you played it ride on it

And how you felt about it fascinated

【样答】

I am going to talk about the children's skid-loader (儿童挖掘机) that I owned when I was about six or seven years old. It was actually a birthday gift from my mother, who was a business woman and had to travel around the country for business affairs (出差). She bought this giant children's skid-loader in a big mall in Beijing and paid a lot of money to transport it to me.

I was totally fascinated by it(完全被迷住了)! The skid-loader was orange, with a big battery on its bottom. After the battery is charged full, I could ride on it for a couple of hours! Imagine a six years old boy proudly sitting on a cool skid-loader at the time when giant toys like these were rare in a small town!

Of course, this baby soon attracted other children's attention. Every kid who came to play would have a chance to sit on my skid-loader. They then went home and told their family and other friends how cool it is that I owned such a great asset! And most importantly, they also got to experience it because I was such a kind and generous friend! Well, the more they talked about it, the happier I was. And I became even more generous because of this. I would invite my fella friends over after dinner and take turns to ride the skid-loader. My mother was always worried that I was introverted and not good with people. With the skid-loader's help, I became more outgoing and earned a bunch of good friends. After all, which kid can resist cool toys, right?

So in some sense, this skid-loader helped build my character. It was not only fun to play with, but also a helpful equipment for my grow-up.

【样答】

One sport that I have only watched but never played myself is American football. I watched it for the first time several years ago during a televised NFL game. It was a Sunday afternoon, and I was at home with my family. My father, who is a fan of American football, had the game on television, and I joined him to watch out of curiosity.

As I watched the game unfold, I was fascinated by the intensity, athleticism, and strategic aspects of American football. (在观看比赛的过程中, 我被美式橄榄球的激烈程度、运动能力和策略性深深吸引。)

The physicality of the players, the precision of their movements, and the complexity of the plays intrigued me. However, I also found the rules and terminology of the sport to be quite confusing at first, as it was unfamiliar to me. Despite not having played American football myself, I could appreciate the skill and dedication required to excel in the sport. Overall, watching American football for the first time was an eye-opening experience that piqued my interest in the sport and left me with a newfound respect for the athletes who compete in it. (总之, 第一次观看

very happy

【样答】

I'd like to talk about my dad's 50th birthday party. You see, in China, we believe that there are certain birthdays which are more significant than others, because they carry a kind of a cultural meaning, or they act as milestones which mark new and different stages in your life. When we turn 50, we believe that people can understand destiny (知天命) and maybe predict the future. A bit superstitious you might say, but I guess people just become wiser with age. Also, as far as my dad's concerned, he-and I quote-'could literally feel the ruthless power of age' (岁月的无情力量) upon turning 50.

At the time of the party, I was doing my internship at a local company, so I was able to save some money for his special day. I called a very fine restaurant near my home and made a reservation for a private room. My father really gets into the traditional Chinese spirit, so I also prepared a famous Maotai for him, since I thought he deserves the very best. Of course, I didn't tell anyone about this, not even my mum, so when it came to his birthday and my mum asked me to find somewhere to eat out, I told her that everything had been arranged.

Overall, everything went well and my plan was almost perfect. Well, I say almost because my dad got a bit drunk and overly talkative (酒醉话多)! He was very happy and I swear I saw tears in his eyes, which is something I'd never seen before in my previous 22 years! I guess he was just proud of me.

One of my favorite photographs of myself was taken during a hiking trip to the mountains last summer. It was captured at a scenic overlook, with majestic peaks and lush greenery stretching out in the background, providing a stunning backdrop for the shot. The photograph was taken by my friend, who is an avid photographer and always manages to capture the beauty of our outdoor adventures.

The photograph captures me standing on a rocky outcrop, with a wide smile on my face and my arms outstretched, embracing the breathtaking landscape around me. (照片中的我站在一块岩石上，面带微笑，伸开双臂，拥抱着周围壮丽的景色。) The sunlight filters through the trees, casting a warm glow on my face and highlighting the natural beauty of the surroundings. In the distance, the mountains loom large, their rugged peaks towering against the blue sky, creating a sense of awe and wonder.

What I love most about this photograph is the sense of joy and freedom it captures. In that moment, surrounded by the beauty of nature, I felt truly alive and connected to the world around me. The photograph serves as a reminder of the exhilaration and sense of adventure that outdoor exploration brings, and it fills me with gratitude for the moments of serenity and joy that nature provides. Moreover, the photograph holds sentimental value as it encapsulates the bond of friendship and shared experiences that my friend and I cherish. It immortalizes a cherished memory of our hiking trip and serves as a tangible reminder of the moments we've shared together in nature's embrace.

Overall, this photograph holds a special place in my heart, not only for its visual beauty but also for the emotions and memories it evokes. Describe a rule you dislike and would like to change in the future

You should say:

What it is clock in

What it is for	working
Why you don't like it	not humane rule
And explain why you would like to change	flexibly adjust our commute time

【样答】

Where I work now is a small private company, so they made a lot of their own rules about working. One of the rules I don't like the most is that you must clock in(打卡) at work. My company stipulates(规定) that if an employee is more than two minutes late in the morning, he or she will be deducted money(扣钱) each time, as well as the bonus at the end of the year. I don't think it's a humane rule(人性化的规定). On the contrary, the humanized stipulation(人性化的规定) should be that sometimes people can go to work a few minutes later and just let them get off work a few minutes later, as long as the total time meets the requirements of the contract(只要总时长达到了合同的要求就行了).

Because of the particularity(特殊性) of our company's business, employees do not need to arrive for work so early, and sometimes we even need to wait for feedback from other companies before continuing to work. Instead, we have to work overtime and that's a waste of time. We all know that traffic is so busy nowadays, especially during the morning rush hour(早高峰), that it is easy to get stuck on the bus(挤不上公交) or encounter traffic jams(遇上堵车), and even the subway is very crowded. As a girl, I often cannot get on the subway, and then I am late again! Even once I tried to go out half an hour earlier, but it was still very tight(时间非常紧) and I was nearly late.

Almost everyone in our company, except the boss, thinks this is a bad rule. Everyone has the experience of being late and being deducted, which has become the biggest complaint of employees. We've discussed privately and thought we could flexibly adjust our commute time,(灵活调整通勤时间) so we don't get charged for being late. Of course, there is nothing we can do if the boss doesn't change the rules, so now I still follow the rules of clocking in every day.

aliens

What opinions you and your friend had disappointment

Why you think the discussion was interesting

aerial phenomena

And how you felt about it.

【样答】

I am a fan of aliens, and I believe that there must be other intelligent life in the vast universe. My best friend Lucy is also a fan of aliens, and in fact we became good friends because of this shared hobby. The US held its first ever UFO hearing (UFO听证会) the other day and we were all very excited and had an interesting conversation about it. To our disappointment, the results of this hearing did not satisfy UFO enthusiasts around the world, because the United States has not confirmed the existence of aliens on Earth, nor has it indicated that aliens have been found in places other than Earth, such as within the space station orbit or on Mars.

However, the hearing also showed a lot of videos and information about some aerial phenomena (空中现象) that the United States has discovered but cannot be explained at present.

Lucy and I were very excited about this. We shared our understanding of the hearing and raised some questions. For example, I suggested that these UFOs may be some kind of secret flight technology developed by some countries on Earth. Lucy said that most of the UFOs recorded by the camera equipment only appear in the video for a very short moment, and the longer ones are either very blurred (模糊) or the image is distorted. Is it possible that the truth has not actually been revealed to the public?

This conversation was very interesting because we all became more convinced of the existence of extraterrestrial life through it.

What are the good and bad effects of tourism for a country?

观点:

- 1.source of revenue
- 2.employment for countries
- 3.well-being of the local citizens

【样答】

Obviously we can say that tourism has its pros and cons. At the outset, the most noticeable positive effects, I'd say it's a key source of revenue for many regions, especially for underdeveloped areas which would struggle a lot if it wasn't for tourism. And it also creates a lot of employment for countries as well. Regarding the negative effects, I wouldn't actually say there are that many, but I suppose one could be that local governments in some areas might start paying more attention to attracting tourism rather than the well-being of the local citizens, which I think is wrong, because taking care of the needs of the local citizens should always be the number one priority.
